

Torn

( Helmut Huber )

Your sister's birthday party - High on the mountain
This certain Friday night
We tried to bring her so much joy
And made her feel alright
I don't know what happened
When I looked in your eyes that night
We just exchanged glances but can there
Result a love at first sight

I looked at your face
And I've seen deep down in your heart
There's so much sorrow and pain
But now you're worlds apart
You're torn in your soul
But don't lose your mind
You're torn in your heart and
Love can make you blind

Would like to make you feel secure
Don't want to see you sad
You should get the appreciation
You've never had
I would like to make you happy
You should feel alright
You live in endless darkness and
You cannot see the light.

I looked at your face
And I've seen deep down in your heart
There's so much sorrow and pain
But now you're worlds apart
You're torn in your soul
But don't lose your mind
You're torn in your heart
It's only some love you want to find